

BEN Buchele Elektromotorenwerke GmbH

Poppenreuther Straße 49a
Nürnberg 90419
Germany

Phone: +49 (911) 37 48-0
Fax: +49 (911) 37 48-138

BEN Buchele has been manufacturing electromotors since 1931. Since then, our products have been proving every day their quality, reliability and operational durability in industry and transport engineering, often in tough conditions as well.

We are a medium-sized company and our main focus is on the wishes and technical requirements of our customers. We are able not only to adapt our extensive range of standard motors to special situations, but we can also produce custom-built motors for specific purposes in small and medium-sized quantities. We have acquired particular expertise at BEN Buchele in producing custom three-phase motors. It also goes without saying that DC and AC motors also feature in our product range for a host of industry sectors. Shipbuilding Offshore Air Conditioning & Ventilation Technology Transport Technology & Heavy Industry Machine Building Special Machine Building

For instance, our motors are used to operate fans and machines in heavy industry and the food industry. Services: Production

Test Station

One particular focus area of our activities is the manufacture of motors for ship equipment. We can also verify this equipment's suitability for immersion in water directly at our factory. We would like to use our website to give you an overview of our range of products and services. We can devise a solution to suit your specific wishes and technical requirements, which also meets the level of quality you require. Why not try us out and see! Our friendly, expert team will, of course, be available to help you with this.

Visit Website

Send Message

Email Friend