

Holcimstrasse 2
Geisingen 78187

Phone: +49 7704 92930

Market leaders in Hot Forging development? Bons & Evers is a leading supplier of Hot Forged parts for of Automotive industry, climate control (HVAC) and water flow management (Sanitary) within Home Technology, the management and optimization of electrical energy in appliances and systems, as well as a wide range of Valves & Fittings within Valve Technology. Markets Automotive Home technology Power management Valve technology

We use Hot Forging to manufacture various products for different markets. Want to know which markets we serve and the components we produce for them? Here are some examples.

Bons & Evers Group operates in various industrial markets, such as Automotive, Home Technology, Power Management, and Valves and Fittings. As experts in hot forging and machining aluminum, brass, and copper alloys, we possess extensive experience and knowledge of product applications in these markets. As a result, we have established ourselves as a primary supplier of hot forged parts for all these industries.

Competences Discover our Expertise; This highlights our team's comprehensive knowledge and skills while providing unmatched insights into our sector. Our experts are dedicated to delivering exceptional performance by using their expertise to meet the (often unique) needs of our clients. Engineering Hot forgingMachiningAssemblyMaterials

Unlocking your creativity; Our clients can rely on our ability to realize their business potential and gain success. Discover what sets us apart and how our competencies can move you further toward achieving your goals.

Trusted innovation partner worldwideAre you looking for a partner with broad experience and expertise in Hot Forging? Through our track record, result-oriented approach, and open communication, we will work with you to develop products that can be seamlessly deployed in your production process.

Visit Website

Send Message

Email Friend